This report on the operations of the National Library is submitted to the Minister by the National Library Board in accordance with section 14(i) of the National Library Act, 1996.

The report begins with a foreword by the Chairman of the Board followed with a review of the year by the Director of the National Library. Under the heading of ‘The Organization’, a brief information is given about the operations of the Board of the National Library and its involvement during the year followed by listing of the core staff of the National Library. A Chronology of Events outlines significant achievements and management developments during the year. The remainder of the report presents details of services offered, some salient features of the first strategic plan and linkages abroad. Further detailed information is supplied in the appendices, together with the 1999-2000 financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with the historical cost convention.
DR. R. S. LUTCHMEAH,
CHAIRMAN OF THE NATIONAL LIBRARY BOARD

I am delighted to present this Annual Report for 1999-2000. The period under review had been a challenging and exciting one with our efforts devoted to a large extent on operationalising, and providing a vision and strategic direction for the newly-established National Library consistent with its objectives.

As can be seen from the contents of this publication, activities inter alia pertained to recruiting core staff, building the holdings, preparation of the 3-year strategic plan and developing infrastructure and facilities generally for the National Library.

None of these achievements would have been possible without the support and collaboration of the Ministry of Arts and Culture, a host of public and private sector organizations and institutions, and several international bodies coupled with the expertise, commitment and enthusiasm of the National Library Board members.

Decisions taken by the Board were ably executed and followed-up by the Director and his dedicated staff. They all showed selfless devotion to duty, often under difficult circumstances, combined with a genuine concern for the National Library.

I believe that a firm foundation for the National Library has been set up. Future strategies will be to build on this foundation in order that the National Library plays its role fully in to-day’s knowledge-based society. There will be many challenges ahead. In this context, I am totally committed to maintaining, strengthening and developing close relationships between the National Library and its partners, and look forward to us all working together.

18th October, 2000

Dr. R. S. Lutchmeah
This report focuses on the birth of the National Library as a national institution, serving the needs of one and all in the field of information. It traces the initial development of the National Library, through sheer commitment and dynamism and above all, through a sense of professionalism which was the guiding force for the setting up of this important national institution.

As from July 1999, necessary administrative steps had been taken to officially institutionalise the National Library. The President of the Republic of Mauritius thus, approved that the National Library be defined as ‘approved service’ for the purpose of the Pension Act. It was also urgent that the National Library which was initially given a ‘B’ status be upgraded to ‘A’ status. This upgrading was obtained in October 1999, which really qualifies the National Library as a national institution, of which Mauritians should feel proud.

At its initial stage, the National Library recruited through public advertisement, a core staff, the majority of them, coming from the library profession. Thus, one Librarian, two Library Officers and four Library Clerks joined the National Library together with six supporting administrative staff.

It is the policy of the National Library to upgrade the skills of its staff and as such, a two-day training workshop on Registry procedures and a documentation session on a computer software were organised. The Government Fire Services Department gave a lecture on ‘Fire Prevention and Safety Measures’ for the benefit of the staff.

The transfer of Mauritiana materials from the Mauritius Institute Public Library and the Archives Department was carried out, thanks to the unflinching support of the Ministry of Arts and Culture, which provided transport facilities. The National Library increased its stock by acquiring library materials through its legal deposit regulations and through the generous donations of Mauritians.

The National Library currently offers to users reference service, electronic search facilities, reprographic and scanning service, bibliographic service, etc. The National Library welcomed 1,373 readers for the year 1999-2000.

A survey was conducted on 20th April, 2000, to find out whether users were satisfied with the services the National Library was providing them and how it could be improved through their valuable suggestions. The survey revealed that most of the users were satisfied with the services provided.

A landmark in the development of librarianship in Mauritius was the setting up of the national committee of librarians, which meets on a monthly basis to discuss and come up with national projects.

VII

The project of compiling a National Union Catalogue of Mauritiana is well under way. It would cumulate in a publication, which would be a useful tool for any user.
Equally significant was the official opening of the National Library on 8th December, 1999 by the Prime Minister of the Republic of Mauritius, in the presence of the Minister of Arts and Culture. Prior to the Opening Ceremony, the National Library organised a public essay competition on the importance of a National Library and a logo competition. Winners of the two competitions were called on the day of the official ceremony to receive their prizes. It was also a matter of pride for the National Library to launch a Souvenir Magazine and its Website.

The preparation of the 1st draft Strategic Plan for the National Library started on 9th February, 2000. Stakeholders, namely members of the National Library Board, librarians, National Library staff, were instrumental in the drafting of the plan. The draft plan was then thoroughly discussed at the level of the Board and was approved at its 33rd meeting of 18th July, 2000. Two copies of the Plan were submitted to the Management Audit Bureau on the 19th July, 2000. One copy was laid in the National Assembly.

3. DEVELOPMENTS AND ACHIEVEMENTS

LEGAL DEPOSIT REGULATIONS

The legal deposit mechanism was activated to enable the National Library to meet its legal obligations as per the Regulations made by the Minister of Arts and Culture under section 17 of the National Library Act 1996. As such, the National Library had the legal responsibility to start implementing the Regulations so that every printer deposit, free of charge with the Director, six copies of the whole of any book (and subsequent editions of the book) within thirty days after the day on which the book was first issued from the press.

The rule also applies to all producers of non-print materials including publications of microfilms, sound or visual recordings, multimedia kits, published scripts of plays.

To implement the regulations, a team was set up at the National Library to work out a comprehensive list of, printers and producers of record media and to start an information campaign on the Regulations. As such, some 326 companies were apprised of the provision of the Legal Deposit Regulations 1997. The response was very positive. Many companies requested the National Library to send its representatives to brief them on the legal deposit system. Subsequently, printing and publishing companies started to deposit six copies of their products regularly. They were eager to send retrospective printed materials to the National Library.

Note: A printer or a producer who contravenes the National Library Regulations 1997, shall commit an offence and shall upon conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs1000 in respect of each copy not deposited.

- A copy of the National Library Regulations 1997 is at Appendix II.
- A list of books acquired through legal deposit as at June 2000 is at Appendix VII.

TRANSFER OF MAURITIANA MATERIALS

As per the provision made at paragraph 3 section (2) of the National Library Act 1996 the National Library shall consist of
(a) the Mauritian Section of the Mauritius Institute;
(b) the Mauritian Section of the Archives Department.

As stipulated, the library materials comprised in the 2 sections mentioned above had to be transferred to the National Library at the start of its operation.

As at June 2000, a total of 39,551 printed materials have been transferred to the National Library and the transfer was still ongoing.
NATIONAL LIBRARY HOLDINGS

In accordance with the Act, the National Library's core responsibility is to acquire library materials generally, and in particular, a comprehensive collection of library materials relating to Mauritius and the Mauritian people.

The holdings of the National Library consist mainly of Mauritian materials, which refer to library materials such as books, newspapers, periodicals, theses, photographs, music scores, maps, drawings, pamphlets, tapes and disks relating to Mauritius and collected in the first instance under the legal deposit provision, through purchases from various sources local as well as abroad, and mainly through donations.

A notable acquisition during the year included some private collections of manuscripts, books, theses, photographs, disks, cassettes, etc, received through donations, in a spirit of goodwill from eminent fellow countrymen.

Following a general appeal made, retrospective printed materials kept pouring continuously at the National Library from various public and private institutions and organizations.

Breakdown of materials transferred from the Mauritius Institute and Archives Department respectively is as follows:

GRAND TOTAL OF MAURITIANA MATERIALS ACQUIRED

AS AT 30th JUNE, 2000

70,782

NOTABLE ACQUISITIONS

Following public announcements to acquire private collections of Mauritiana materials, the National Library received various donations of private collections of documents, manuscripts, photographs, discs and audio cassettes belonging to eminent personalities of Mauritius. Those personalities, as witnessed by their collection, have in their specific field, marked the political, social and historical development of the country. As such, the National Library has become the custodian of those rare collections.

A sympathetic Donation Ceremony was organized on Tuesday 29th February, 2000, in the presence of eminent local personalities in the Search Room of the National Library to remit a certificate of acknowledgement to the donors or their representatives.

The National Library conveyed its appreciation to and placed on record the contribution of the following donors: Mr R. Quenette (for late Sir Harilall Vaghjee’s documents), Lady Harold Walter, Sir Satcam Boolell, Dr James Burty David, Mrs Somduth Bhuckory, Mr Abhimanyu Unnuth, Mrs Raymond Chasle, Mr Chit Dukhira, Mr Foo Fat (Neptune), Mrs S. Ramyead, Mr Serge Lebrasse, Mr J. Kenneth Nelson, etc.
STAFF TRAINING AND DEVELOPMENT

Workshop on Public Procurement Procedures

Mr S. Itteea and Mr D. Jodhun attended a one-day workshop on Public Procurement Procedures (PPP) on Friday 8th October, 1999 at the Mauritius Institute of Public Administration and Management. The workshop was an information and training session aimed at offering participants an opportunity to increase knowledge and to improve skills for the public procurement of goods, works and services to be undertaken as per the procedures and standard forms laid down in PPP made under the Public Procurement Transparency & Equity Act of 1999.

The workshop was organized by the Ministry of Finance and conducted by Sir Gaëtan Gobeil and Lady Ginette Jobidon.

Seminar organized by the British Council

Four representatives from the National Library attended a seminar led by Keith Yeomans, a UK specialist in Information Society Policy and Strategy Information on 3rd November, 1999, at the British Council.

Information technology and networking in libraries and the key role of librarians in today's society were discussed at that seminar. Mr Yeomans also talked about how poor countries were progressing in the global information society. Also discussed was the accessibility to information through the Internet which was a growing feature of our society.

NATIONAL LIBRARIAN COMMITTEE

In line with the objective of the National Library Act, regular monthly meetings of professional librarians of the country were held to enhance the spirit of cooperation among members of the profession and to ensure that the nation is better served in terms of information.

As such, as from the 7th July, 1999, the National Library held 12 monthly meetings with librarians.

The Director of the National Library was the Chairman of the Committee and the Librarian acted as the Secretary. 18 members formed part of that committee.

The first major strategy for cooperation was the project for the publication of a National Union Catalogue which would comprise of all Mauritian materials scattered among the various libraries participating in the project. Moreover, a public exhibition on ‘national libraries and the libraries of Mauritius’ was organised in the current year to give an opportunity for librarians in Mauritius to present the services they provide in their respective libraries and documentation centres.
MEETINGS AND COMMITTEES

Official Meetings and Committees attended by the Director from 1st July, 1999 to 30th June, 2000.

1. Arts and Cultural Advisory Committee

4. READER SERVICES

THE SEARCH ROOM

During the period under report, a Readers’ Regulations was prepared so as to provide everyone aged between 18 and above to have access to the services of the National Library. School students below 18 were admitted upon presentation of an official recommendation from the Head of their respective schools. Each user was called upon to register himself/herself at the reception counter of the Administration Section of the National Library. He/she was then given an Access Card for the Search Room to consult the material(s) requested, under the guidance of an officer of the Library Cadre.

The Search Room accommodates 75 sitting readers and offers a pleasant and air-conditioned environment, conducive to research and study.

The National Library is opened from 09.00 hrs to 16.00 hrs on weekdays and 09.00 hrs to 12.00 hrs on Saturdays.

Use of the Search Room as at 30th June, 2000

INTERNET ACCESS

Since its official opening in December 1999, the National Library has made available an Internet service partially free to users. From 09.00 a.m to 12.00 p.m, users could benefit from 30 minutes free access to the Internet and for each additional minute a nominal fee of one rupee was claimed. In the afternoon, a normal fee of one rupee per minute was paid. However, due to increase in demand, users were allowed 15 minutes free Internet access from 09.00 a.m to 12.00 p.m. 3 personal computers were available with Internet connection at the Search Room.

From 13th December, 1999 to 29th June, 2000, some 356 persons made use of the Internet facilities. 48 diskettes were sold to users for the same period for downloading purposes.

PHOTOCOPY SERVICE

Photocopy and scanning services were available at the Search Room as from January 2000. A fee of one rupee was charged for an A4 size paper and one rupee fifty cents for that of an A3 size paper for photocopy.

663 readers and staff combined used the photocopy service from January 2000 to June 2000.

READERS’ SURVEY

In the month of April, 2000, a questionnaire was designed for users of the Search Room of the National Library. The aim was to find out:

(a) whether the public was satisfied with the service provided to them, and;
(b) how the service could be improved by the valuable suggestions of the users.

From the 9th May, 2000 up to 28th July, 2000, 65 survey questionnaires were given to users. The result was that most of the users were satisfied with the services provided to them as well as the time taken by officers of the National Library to supply materials requested.

It was also found that the users who visited the Search Room range from 18 years to 74 years old. They were journalists, lecturers, historians, students, retired persons, professionals and the general public.

Some of the suggestions arising from the survey were implemented. As such, a list of newspapers available in the library and a bound volume catalogue of the National Library’s holdings have been made available to the public. Scanning facility was also offered to users.
5. PUBLICATIONS

SOUVENIR MAGAZINE

A special Souvenir Magazine was published on the occasion of the Opening Ceremony of the National Library. Among others, messages from different local eminent personalities, personalities of the library world and international institutions were included. A few sponsors reserved publicity space in the Magazine thus, making it self financed. The Magazine was distributed to ministries, educational institutions, documentation centres and libraries of Mauritius.

DIRECTORY OF LIBRARIES, DOCUMENTATION CENTRES AND BOOKSHOPS IN MAURITIUS AND RODRIGUES

The National Library was in the process of editing a Directory, the first of its kind, which is meant to be a useful tool of reference whilst, providing a wealth of information to enable researchers, scholars, policy makers and the public at large to make optimum use of library and information resources of the country.

In the same context, a survey was carried out at the beginning of this year to cover the four main types of libraries in Mauritius namely, national, public, academic and special. More than 200 questionnaires had been sent to public and private organisations in Mauritius and Rodrigues to enable the compilation of this Directory.
In line with the proposal included in the 1998-99 Budget speech, the National Library was required to prepare a 3-year strategic plan. The Management Audit Bureau was entrusted with the task of overseeing the project. With the help of the ‘Guidelines on Strategic Planning’, the National Library started the formulation of its plan. A workshop was further organized with the help of the Director of the Management Audit Bureau to assist Management in the finalisation of a first draft around March 2000.

The Strategic Plan of the National Library contained inter alia the vision, strategic management principles, goals and objectives, and plan of action that would govern the National Library for the years 2000 to 2002.

All stakeholders were involved in the preparation of the Plan: the Board, management and representatives of Library Associations.

The Mahatma Gandhi Institute was solicited to print 200 copies of the Plan. The National Library bore the cost of the printing materials.
7. INTERNATIONAL LINKAGES

The National Library was affiliated to the International Federation of Library Associations (IFLA) in April 1999 with a view to establish linkages for cooperative arrangements. The Library also houses the “Centre Serveur de la Banque Internationale d’Informations sur les Etats Francophones (BIEF)” and its Director was appointed Director of the “Centre Serveur/BIEF-Maurice” in May 1999. BIEF has agreed to finance the publication of the National Library Bibliography of Mauritius. The National Library has also already initiated preliminary contacts with foreign national libraries of direct interest to Mauritius regarding exchange of publications, recuperation of Mauritian materials in the form of microfiche and microfilm, library cooperation and staff training.
8. WEBSITE

The National Library's website (http://ncb.intnet.mu/nlibrary/index.htm) was launched on Thursday 8\(^{th}\) December, 1999. The aim of the website was to create an awareness of the role and the importance of the National Library of the Republic of Mauritius, both locally and internationally and to communicate the latest developments and activities of the institution.
